

EASTSIDE NEWS

Published by GOODMAN COMMUNITY CENTER

Eastside News is published six times a year by the Goodman Community Center. It contains news and information about events, issues, resources and programs at Goodman and the greater community on the east side of Madison. The 24-page full-color newspaper is edited and produced by Goodman staff and volunteers.

The paper has a circulation of more than 19,000. More than 12,000 households on the near east side of Madison receive the FREE paper, and it is distributed to an additional 6,000 homes and businesses throughout Madison. It is also distributed at local businesses, the Pinney, Hawthorne and Monona libraries, Willy Street Co-op East and North, and at Goodman.

Why advertise in Eastside News?

Affordable ad rates

We offer a wide variety of sizes to meet your advertising budget. Full-year (6 issues) contracts save 10%. See other side for available sizes and pricing.

Eastside News reaches beyond the east side

About 5,000 issues of Eastside News are mailed outside the core neighborhood of the Goodman Community Center – much of this mailing goes to suburban areas of Dane County. Ads are seen by more than just residents of the east side.

People depend on the Eastside News for local information

People really read our little paper! News racks constantly need restocking because people turn to Eastside News for community information. Plus, households and businesses often keep each issue around until the next one arrives, so your ad has a long exposure time.

Your ad helps keep our community connected

Advertisers' support makes publishing this valued community resource possible and supports the Goodman Community Center. The Eastside News reflects and fosters pride in our community.

Digital ads with ESN articles posted on Goodman's website are now available!

Just ask and we can provide you with specifications and pricing for ads or sponsorships.
